

DIRECTED STUDY

In unusual circumstances, a student may be advised and permitted to take a course in the regular curriculum on a directed-study basis. Reasons for giving this permission are commonly related to the student's status and at the discretion of the chair of the department from which the course is taught:

1. As a candidate for graduation whose program requires the course or
2. As a transfer into the major for whom the course is unavailable because of the course scheduling rotation.
3. When a course, which is offered only occasionally and is not necessary for the major, is sought by a student as an elective.

The student must obtain the approvals as indicated on the directed study request available from the Office of the Registrar (<https://dyc0.sharepoint.com/sites/SolutionsCenter/SitePages/Forms.aspx>). No directed studies are permitted in any nursing clinical courses.
